

Bridging Strategy to Outcomes[®]

Training

Meeting the needs of the new global marketplace with a flexible, total-systems approach

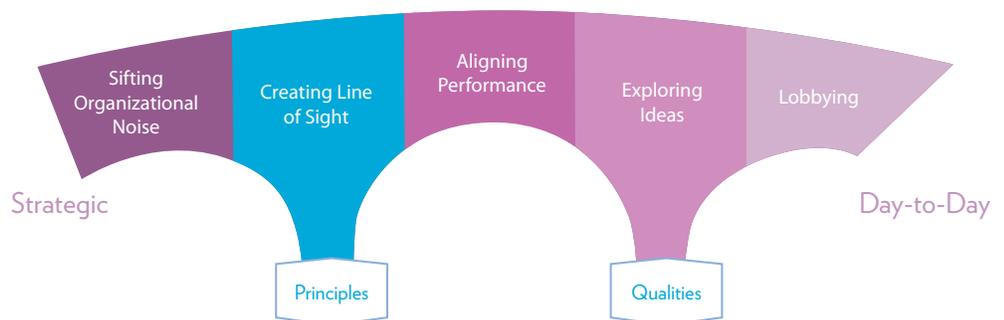

Senior leaders are the critical link between executive strategy and day-to-day outcomes. They bridge top-level thoughts and plans to action at lower levels, inspiring employees while impressing executives with results.

The central challenge for today's managers is to bridge the gap between strategic goals and day-to-day operations. Pulled in many directions, these managers must address complex business issues, implement directives from senior leadership, and meet the human and operational needs of direct reports and frontline employees.

The Bridging Strategy to Outcomes[®] workshop helps senior managers build commitment and focus effort at every organizational level. Participants master and apply key interpersonal skills, which have been fine-tuned and framed for this audience. Participants also acquire the interpersonal skills needed to meet the challenges of their roles as managers of other managers.

Content

Effectively negotiating today's complex organizational terrain—and retaining balance while standing with one foot on each shore—requires the consistent use of the skills illustrated in the model below.

Developing the 21st century workforce[™]

In this two-day workshop, participants hone these skills to help them be successful at building bridges to action.

Day 1

- The Principles and Qualities of Genuine Leadership serve as a strong foundation for the interpersonal skills managers need to turn strategy into day-to-day action.
- Sifting Organizational Noise helps managers quickly sift through the influx of information they receive on a daily basis and extract the “nuggets” that could impact business results.
- Creating Line of Sight is a skill managers can use to help others understand where the organization is going and the important roles they play in accomplishing organizational goals.
- Aligning Performance involves two skills that managers can use to help people recognize how their performance contributes to or detracts from the organization’s direction. Recognition helps managers reinforce performance that supports the identified direction.

Day 2

- Aligning Feedback provides a constructive approach to identifying how performance can be improved.
- Exploring Ideas is a skill that managers can use to help others share their ideas and engage in active discussions that can bring out their best thinking.
- Lobbying can help managers involve others, gain support, and secure resources for executing strategies that lead to business results.

Outcomes

At the end of the two-day program, participants will be able to:

- Seek out, clarify, and confirm ideas and information.
- Describe organizational issues and strategy in a compelling way.
- Recognize the challenges and benefits of giving feedback.
- Focus individual action on issues through feedback.
- Explore useful ideas for turning strategies into action.
- Lobby for the support and resources needed to address key organizational issues.
